

Week Ahead

The world has a lot going on this week. First, it is the start of third quarter earnings which may be taking somewhat of a backseat to economic and political data. The major economic release this week will be Eurozone and US CPI data. This number will be very important as rates continue to reel, a hot release could exacerbate the outcome. Next, we have the results of Brazil's first round of the presidential election, the "Donald Trump" of Brazil continues to gain steam. On the US political front, Mike Pence is set to meet with North Korea's Kim Jong Un and continue trade talks with China. World Banks around the globe are also set to meet. We will also be keeping a close eye on Italy as the current situation is becoming more and more unprecedented.

Major Earnings Announcements for the Week:

Monday-	None
Tuesday-	Fastenal
Wednesday-	Delta Air Lines & Walgreens Boots Alliance
Thursday-	None
Friday-	Citigroup, JPMorgan Chase & PNC Financial

Economic Calendar/ Market Moving Events:

Monday-	None
Tuesday-	Fed Speakers throughout the day
Wednesday-	PPI MoM and YoY 8:30AM & Wholesale Inventories
Thursday-	CPI MoM and YoY 8:30AM
Friday-	